Irritating Box

Picture Description¹⁾

Framed view of a modern building with graffiti-covered concrete structures in the foreground.

Analysis¹⁾
