Dark Bark Views

Picture Description<sup>1)</sup>

A diptych showcasing the intricate textures and patterns of tree bark.

Analysis<sup>1)</sup>

This diptych presents a detailed exploration of tree bark texture. The left panel showcases a close-up view of heavily textured, almost cubist bark, with a blend of deep browns, blacks, and hints of silvery-grey. The cracks and crevices emphasize the age and history etched into the tree. The right panel shifts the perspective slightly, highlighting the vertical orientation of the bark ridges and furrows. The lighting creates a subtle interplay of light and shadow, enhancing the depth and complexity of the bark's surface. Together, the two panels offer a nuanced study of natural patterns and organic forms.
