Dive II

Picture Description¹⁾

A white bird dives headfirst into the water, with only its rear and tail feathers visible.

Analysis¹⁾

This photograph captures a moment of playful interaction between nature and observer. A white cockatoo is depicted mid-dive, its tail feathers and distinctive yellow crest jutting out of the water's surface. The monochrome tonality of the water contrasts with the bird's bright plumage, creating a striking focal point. The serene ripples on the water's surface enhance the sense of stillness and quietude, inviting the viewer to contemplate the delicate balance of life within the aquatic environment.
