Straw II

Picture Description¹⁾

Black and white landscape featuring several hay bales in a field.

Analysis¹⁾

This black and white photograph captures a rural landscape dominated by hay bales scattered across a field. The bales vary in size and distance, creating a sense of depth and perspective. The contrast between the dark bales and the bright field creates a stark, yet beautiful composition. The texture of the hay is visible in detail, adding a tactile element to the photograph. A building in the background hints at human presence in the landscape, but nature remains the central focus.
