

011216

November Field IV

Picture Description<sup>1)</sup>

A field of young crops is arranged in rows, with a section of denser growth in the foreground.

Analysis<sup>1)</sup>

This photograph captures an aerial view of a field, showcasing rows of young, green plants set against the dark soil. The repetition of the rows creates a strong sense of depth and perspective, drawing the viewer's eye into the distance. The lighting casts subtle shadows, highlighting the texture of the plants and the furrows in the soil. The overall effect is both agricultural and abstract, emphasizing the beauty and order of nature. The area with less organized plants in the foreground presents a juxtaposition with the organized growth of the majority of the field.

Picture Data

|                | Type / Size      | By          | Web Link  |
|----------------|------------------|-------------|---|
| Exposure       | Digital          | Frank Titze |  |
| Developing     | —                | —           |   |
| Enlarging      | —                | —           |   |
| Scanning       | —                | —           |   |
| Processing     | Digital          | Frank Titze |   |
|                | Exposure         | Processing  | Published   |
| Dates          | 11/2022          | 11/2022     | 01/2024   |
|                | Width            | Height      | Bits/Color  |
| Original Size  | 7360 px          | 4912 px     | 16  |
| Ratio ca.      | 1.50             | 1           | —   |
| Exposure       | 24x36 mm         |             |   |
| Location       | —                |             |   |
| Title (German) | November Feld IV |             |   |

Remarks

<sup>1)</sup>Text is AI generated - NOT reviewed and/or corrected