Street Reflexion II

Picture Description¹⁾

A street scene is reflected in a window, showing a pedestrian crossing the road, a foot and leg visible in the foreground.

Analysis¹⁾

This photograph presents a street scene viewed through a semi-opaque glass barrier, creating a layered effect. The reflection on the glass distorts the outside view, which features a pedestrian crossing with a person in motion and distant buildings under a bright sky. A dark, shadowy figure intrudes from the right, grounding the ethereal streetscape. The juxtaposition of light and shadow, coupled with the blurred reflections, lends the photograph a sense of transient reality and urban introspection.
